

Castle Statement on the Resignation of University of Delaware President David Roselle -- May 23, 2006

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Delaware Congressman Mike Castle today released the following statement regarding the resignation of David Roselle as the President of the University of Delaware:

"David Roselle has been a true leader of the Blue Hen community since my time as Governor and over the years I have always been impressed by his impassioned drive to make the University competitive on all levels from academia and student life to community service and athletics. Suffice it to say, Dave eats, sleeps and breathes for the University of Delaware and his dedication and commitment will be greatly missed. Under President Roselle's leadership, the University of Delaware may have progressed more than any other college or university during the same time period. Finally, I'd like to thank Louise Roselle for her tremendous support for the university community -- she and David are true partners in advancing the interests of the school."
